Who are the Gas Barons?

They are the merchants, householders, teachers, clergymen, stenographers, lawyers, doctors, dentists, mechanics, policemen, widows, orphans,—people in all walks of life—who have a part or all of their savings invested in gas companies.

This great body of citizens is the backbone of the gas industry—an industry one hundred per cent American—which asks for the right to conduct its business on a profitable basis so as to maintain a reasonably satisfactory service and pay its investors a fair return on their money.

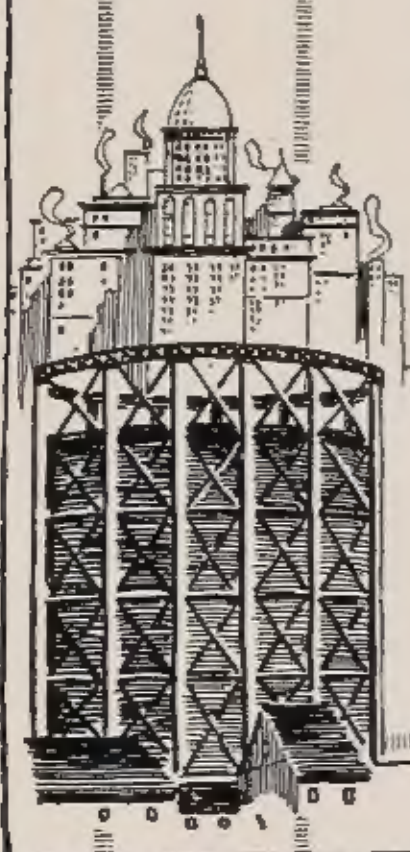

Among these investors are Life Insurance Companies and Savings Banks. Every individual who has a Life Insurance Policy or a Savings Bank deposit, is, therefore, vitally interested in having these institutions obtain a profit on their gas company investments.

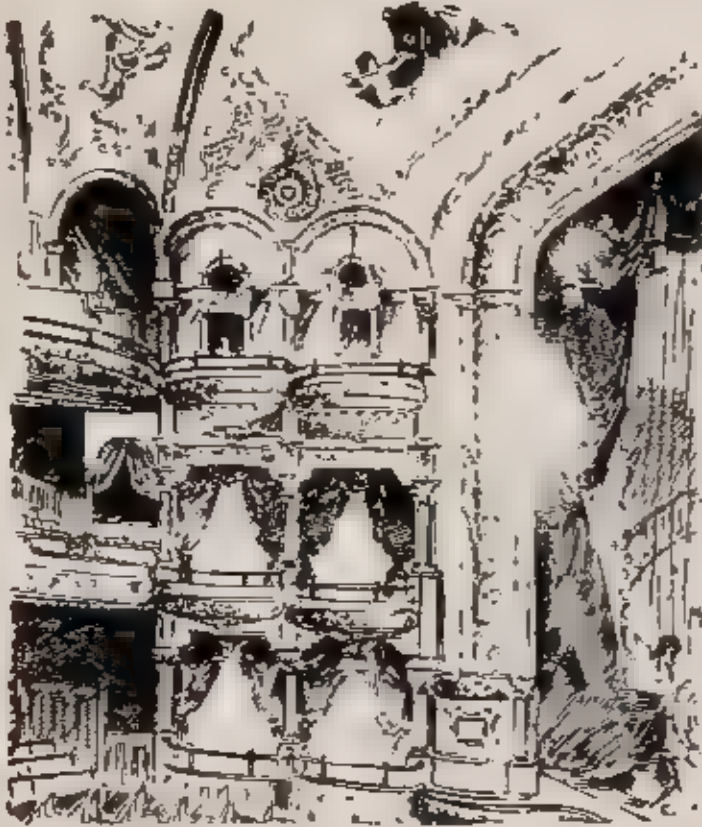

In the truest sense of the word the gas industry belongs to the American people because it is owned by the American people and the profits (if there are any) are shared by the American people.

The next time you read or hear about "gas barons" you will know who they are,

The Amusement Centre of Boston

For More Than Twenty-five Years the Home of All That Is Best in American and European Vaudeville

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN BOSTON IF YOU HAVEN'T SEEN KEITH'S

Its Red Room with Paintings, world-famous.

Its beautiful unusual Decorations by Tojetti that are still supreme after a quarter of a century.

Its World-famous Marble Engine Room, the Onyx and Mahogany of which idealize even oil cans and wrenches.

Its immaculate Boiler Room with carpeted floors.

Its beautiful Marble Corridors and Crystal Passages leading to entrances on three streets.

Its wonderful collection of Statuary, Vases, Lamps,
and Bric-a-brac.

B. F. Keith's has its own Heating and Lighting Plant.

It has its own Carpenter Shops, Tailor Shops, Machine Shop, Paint Shops, and its own Fire Department.

All the Famous Stars of the day appear at Keith's following a long list of past and present celebrities.

Some of the Biggest Features and names have originated at Keith's, Boston, including the Famous Fadette's Women's Orchestra, the Mastersingers, Annette Kellerman, Neptune's Garden of Living Statues, Original Living Pictures, Houdini, U. S. Navy Jazz Band, and many others.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE HAS ALWAYS BEEN FIRST

It was the First beautiful home of vaudeville.

It was the First to show Motion Pictures.

It was the First Theatre in which Ladies Removed Their Hats.

It was the First to Furnish Drinking Cups, etc.

For more than twenty-five years it has never been surpassed in the Quality of its Vaudeville Shows and all those other features that have made it a Boston Institution.

During the World War B. F. Keith's was the great centre of activity in Boston. Its Liberty Loan and Red Cross Campaigns were the sensation of the day.

And the Christmas Season at B. F. Keith's Theatre is looked forward to by thousands of Bostonians many of whom are bringing their children to receive presents from the same Santa Claus who brought joy to themselves when they were young.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY

ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS

FOUNDED at Andover, Mass., 1778, by the gifts of Hon. Samuel Phillips and his uncle, Hon. John Phillips. Others have added to the original foundations by endowments of several kinds, and various scholarships have been established. The total endowment is $1,262,000.

Phillips Academy has established very high repute for its broad scholarship, for its elevated ideals, and especially for the practical success which has been attained by its students.

In all the leading professions and every useful avenue of endeavor, its alumni are found among leaders. In all the great colleges, and particularly Yale and Harvard, the graduates of this Academy have for years been distinguished for their thoroughness of preparation and success in their college work. The Academy has also done a useful work in the education of boys who have not gone to college. Especially is it distinguished for its American democratic spirit, the sons of the wealthiest men in the country mingling with boys who are working their way through school.

The courses of the Academy have thoroughly readjusted and adapted themselves to the highest collegiate requirements. The ability of its faculty, the excellence of its equipment, its library and laboratory facilities, the prestige of honorable history and other advantages and achievements have placed Phillips Academy in the front rank of American schools.

BE BIE BOH BOB AL

THE days spent on this memorable Hill will be the objects of much reflection and enjoyment in the years to come. It is the purpose of this book to help Andover men more clearly visualize these happy and profitable moments in the future. In the compilation of this, the thirtieth annual volume of the Pot-Pourri, the editors have endeavored to make more lasting and vivid the activities which are so much a part of this wonderful life here, and sincerely hope that this book will be a monument in the memory of its readers of this great school and 1921.

In the preparation of this book the Board has been greatly aided by the kind assistance of Mr. Leonard, and Mr. Cole and also by the helpful contribution of cuts by the Phillips Bulletin. To these and all others who have offered wise counsel, the Board wishes to express its thanks and deepest appreciation

CLASS HISTORY

WILLIAM GREENE

The Junior Year

IF one could have been present on Andover Hill in the early part of September, 1917, he would have seen numerous fellows hustling and running from one dormitory to another. Some carrying chairs, some books, and others even trunks. The spectator would have been confused as to the meaning of the scene which presented itself to him. Who were these fellows, and what were they doing and the answer to his question would have been — they are the class of 1921 fulfilling the duties of the "prep" class. Thus we entered Andover our first year: frightened, almost terrified by certain beings called "old men."

Our thoughts, we were told by the "old men," should first be concentrated upon football; this we did. However, it was not long before military training was organized in the school, and, for the most part, our minds were occupied with this work. The whole student body was organized into two battalions, and recognized as a Senior R. O. T. C. Although most of our time was occupied with military training, we did not forget the football team. The team went through a very successful season under the coaching of Frank Quinby. However, the Exeter team proved to be our superiors, and won the annual contest by the score of 3 to 0.

After a pleasant Christmas vacation, we all returned to Andover prepared to face the terrible winter term of which we had heard so much from the "old men." Our military training was continued in the gym, and here we were carefully instructed in the use of the bayonet. We had become quite used to our military uniforms, and the drill did not seem as tedious as it had the preceding term. However, the one bright star was the thought of the Junior Prom. This was held in the gym on February 21, and proved to be most successful. The hockey team, under the leadership of Captain Norman Dodd, had a most successful season, and closed their season by defeating Exeter.

It was not long before the last indication of winter had passed away; we were commencing the spring term. Our military training was still continued, but upon a different branch of work. We were now instructed in the construction of trenches. A complete set of trenches was constructed by the corps, and these were later the scene of a very successful "sham battle" which was held the night before commencement. Baseball and Track were in no way forgotten. The track team, under the guidance of Captain Stevenson and Coach Blanchard, had a very successful season. However, they were decisively triumphed over by Exeter. The baseball team also had a most promising season. The team was guided by Captain Dodd and Coach Stearns. They, too, were beaten by Exeter by the score of 10 to 2.

Commencement Day was very successfully celebrated; the Senior Prom occurred the same night, and was enjoyed by all who attended. The following day we left Andover for our summer vacation. We were Andover men; we had made a great many friends; we would return the following September as "old men."

JAMES F. BURNS, JR.

The Lower Middle Year

THE fall of 1918 saw us return as old men determined to take vengeance on the incoming Preps, and enter upon another year of war-time restrictions.

Many of us had come back to school after a summer at military camp, some from the shipyard and farm, and others from a vacation devoted entirely to some branch of war work.

Military training, which had figured so prominently the preceding year, was again added to the regular curriculum as a five hour extra-course. Football also held the attention of all, and practice was immediately commenced on Brothers Field. Everything pointed to a victory over Exeter, but fate decreed otherwise, and we were forced to see our rivals win 26 to 7. The Soccer Team under the guidance of Captain Fletcher, although suffering from the lack of material, made a very creditable showing.

On the morning of November 11th we awoke very early to be informed that the Armistice had been signed and with it two days of celebration and holiday were enjoyed at Andover. Normal conditions began to dawn on the Hill, and athletics were revived with intense enthusiasm by all. The social life of the school commenced to assume its pre-war station. The Peabody Dances proved as successful as ever, and the long anticipated Junior Prom went off with much glory. The combined Musical Clubs were entertained delightfully after their annual concert at Rogers Hall, and a dance was given by them in return at Peabody House. The musical season was at its height in the spring when a concert was held by the combined choir and glee clubs and Bradford Academy.

The Swimming and Hockey Teams enjoyed very successful seasons, the former winning all of its meets except the last with Worcester, the latter after a creditable season tying Exeter 1 to 1 in a hotly contested overtime game at the local rink. The Basketball Team won the majority of its games, while the Wrestling Team won all of its meets. Andover was fortunate in securing the services of Roy A. Shepard as track coach at the beginning of the winter term, who tried to whip a relay team in shape for the annual indoor race with Exeter at the B. A. A. Meet. This relay race was lost to our New Hampshire rivals.

The Spring term was now at hand and, living up to its reputation of being the pleasantest, came and went rapidly. Handicapped by green material the track team had an unfortunate season, losing to Exeter. Fred Daly, who returned from France in the latter part of the winter, coached the baseball team through a victorious preliminary schedule. However, fortune failed to smile on Andover and combined with erratic playing the team succumbed to the Exonian nine in the last game 11 to 4.

H. A. WILLARD, 2nd

The Upper Middle Dear

WE returned to Andover in the fall of 1919 after a presumably strenuous vacation and prepared to encounter the year in which we should be Upper Middlers — who may adequately be likened to a second team — in that they receive all the hard knocks and little glory. It was a year of general depression for us in which as fledglings we were just beginning to stretch our wings and yearn to fly. Indeed our hypochondria reached its low mark when with the onrush of winter came snow and cold that chilled the most optimistic and settled a general blue haze over the ensemble.

The fall and football started almost simultaneously; both were successful in the extreme. Exeter succumbed to a steady battering of cruel punishment and finally lowered her flags with the score 19 to 0 in our favor. Wingate, Adams (Capt.) Koehler and Neidlinger represented 1921 on the field.

After the Christmas holidays we returned to the Arctic fastness of Andover lighted fitfully by the occasional flashes of the Northern lights. Before the weary term wound its way to a close we were reduced to a degree of civilization hardly less savage than that of the Eskimo. However, the weather affected in no way our march of Athletics. Basketball and Swimming, both held with Exeter for the first time, we won, and Hockey and Relay were lost. 1921 was represented in the first by Riley and Tillson; in the second by Clark, Stilwell, Draper, Ferguson, and Van Patten; in the third by Neidlinger (Capt.) and Koehler; and in the fourth by McInnes. A new sorrow was added to our lengthening list — no prom. Eyes were downcast and voices hushed as we spoke of the deceased.

The Spring term, accompanied by the carols of birds and the usual slump in scholarship, arrived and departed in a curriculum of rain three days and shine the next four — ad infinitum. The track meet was held on one of the first three days and although regrettably wet, was exceedingly interesting and heart-breakingly close; Captain Hills's team lost after a game fight and one of which the school may well be proud. The score was $58\frac{1}{2}$ to $50\frac{1}{2}$.

Baseball, alack, was a vast disappointment. After a truly inspiring mass meeting our team was unable to accumulate more than 5 runs to Exeter's 8. The decision was with the gods and they were unpropitious.

In conclusion, as a final slap in the face, on commencement the weather carried the day unanimously with a cloud-burst; the exercises were nevertheless maintained with their accustomed rigor and the class of 1920 to the slow music of hymns and the Baccalaureate sermon, wended their way from the traditions and hills of Andover forever.

C. H. D. ROBBINS, JR.

The Senior Year

AND then, the last year — and perhaps the most absorbing and important. Through the preceding terms we slowly fell into the positions of responsibility and authority; gradually as 1921 approached, and the seniors of other seasons were drafted into college, we became more vital pieces in the game. Fairly can we boast more men of '21 prominent in sports and school life than there had been for some years before.

There was the Exeter football game, first high-light of the athletic season. When the straw blanketed field was cleared, a snapping 13th of November saw a fierce, close struggle — and a score of "Andover 6, Exeter 3." Fred Daly's team that was whirled in yelling ecstasy from Brothers Field contained five seniors: Captain Wingate and Manager Hammond, Tillson, Veghte and Koehler. Surely the pride of the triumph afterwards equalled the spirit of the team.

In soccer, again, Captain Bateman and Manager Richardson, as well as Black, Sahler, Sun, and Wheelock, were seniors; and except for the hardly given Worcester game, the season was consistently good.

Captain "Herm" Koehler, Manager Willard, and Lindley, Robbins and Brewster held up the '21 laurels in hockey, and in the final game with Exeter the team more than reversed the last year's defeat with a decisive score of 4-0.

The work done in basketball and swimming was almost as good, for while in both cases Exeter wrested victory by a pleasingly narrow margin, the preliminary contests showed vire and efficiency. We were well represented, in the former by Manager Gage and Tillson, in the latter by Captain Clark, Manager Nicola, and Stilwell, Draper, Hapgood and Butler. In the wrestling team, which came out 19-3 winners in the letter game of the season, that with Worcester, Manager Hudner was a senior.

So far were the scores disclosed. As the POT-POURRI went to press, coaches Daly and Shepard were turning the best of the school into strong baseball and track teams. Many seniors were on the squads at that time, barely tested. It was impossible to predict victory, but knowing the calibre of the men we can base our hopes on a solid foundation.

In activities other than athletic '21 was well among the first. Willard completed a year as managing editor of the Phillipian as did Hammond for the POT-POURRI, while Ludlam and Robbins successively filled the editorial chair of the Mirror.

Besides the usual excursion, due to the magnetic effect of Rogers Hall on even the least musically inclined Andoverian, the senior prom was revived, and the shifting school interest quickened to life dramatics, the rifle club and so forth.

But through all, pervading this varied year, came to us a vague consciousness that it was the last; we wondered, perhaps, if we, as individuals and as a class, would stand out among the others. Whatever may be the decision of the future, it matters little. The distinction of Andover is eminence enough.

Musical Clubs

THE Combined Musical Clubs held their trials shortly after the opening of school in the Fall, and a large number of candidates reported. Although made up for the most part of new members, the clubs soon became well organized under skilful coaching and able leadership, and were thoroughly prepared for their first concert, which was given at Rogers Hall, Lowell, on December 4. The concert, which was extremely successful, was followed by a supper and dance, concluding the evening's entertainment.

On Saturday, March 12, a concert was given in the Stone Chapel. On this occasion the student body showed its support of the clubs by a large attendance, which did much to lend spirit to the members of the clubs, and encourage them to their best efforts in the Exeter concert, which was held the following Saturday, March 19, in the Town Hall at Exeter. Both the Andover and the Exeter organizations acquitted themselves admirably, and the music chosen by both was exceptional in the quality of its selection and delivery.

1921 POT POURRI

The fourth and last concert of the year was held at Bradford Academy on April 9. After the program a most enjoyable dance was given for the clubs by the Leonora Society of Bradford.

The season was closed on April 30 when an informal dance was given for the girls of Rogers Hall at Peabody House. Dancing started at four in the afternoon, and lasted until nine, with an intermission for supper.

Much praise and many thanks are due those whose untiring efforts and excellent leadership have succeeded in making possible so successful a season from a musical, as well as social, standpoint.

Society of Inquiry

THE fundamental aim and object of the Society of Inquiry is to uphold Christian ideals and influences in the school, and to promote clean, honest living, friendship, and school spirit. The officers, because of their sincere interest in the welfare of Inquiry, have set a standard for future cabinets. They leave as their contribution to the school something of lasting value: a spiritual force that was heretofore lacking in Andover. Inasmuch as this is so, it is with a feeling that something worth while has been accomplished that I review the work carried on during the past school year. The Society of Inquiry, when in the hands of fellows who have its best interests at heart, is an example of what a power for good a school Christian Association can be, for it can wield an influence that is invaluable to the morale of the school as a whole.

On the first Sunday of the school year Inquiry held a reception in the gymnasium, at which practically the entire Faculty and student body were present. Speeches were given by Dr. Stearns, Mr. Daly, and several student leaders. The impetus gained by that first meeting has been maintained, consequently almost every meeting has been well attended and the open meetings have been unusually successful, an evidence of the interest taken by most of the members. At the beginning of the winter term one hundred eighty students were enrolled for the Bible Discussion Groups, which were led by Dr. Stearns, Mr. Fuess, Mr. Hinman, Mr. Stackpole, Mr. Pfatteicher, Mr. L. C. Newton and Mr. Shepard, while a group under student leadership was led alternately by Allen and Stevenson, and Wingate and Lewis.

Andover was not well represented at the Silver Bay Student Conference last June, since there were only four men there, but measures are being taken to ensure a representative delegation for this year.

Literary

WITH timidity customary to a class in its infant year, 1921 avoided all contact with school publications, back in 1917 when such of the class as were here were residing cautiously in the sublime obscurity of Williams Hall. But becoming mindful of the opportunities to practical literary fame, Jess Willard, Pete Nicola, and Don Stevenson emerged from their recesses and attained the Phillipian board. The next year, Al Wilson, George Ludlam, Kirk Askew and Bill Greene were added. In our Senior year Len Draper, Gordon Griffith, Chad Taylor, and John Ives completed the number of those in '21 whose names were to be handed down to posterity as members of the Phillipian board. June Burns managed the paper, while Jess Willard guided its editorial helm.

The initial member of the class to the Mirror was George Ludlam, who became editor-in-chief in his Senior year. He was followed by "Chuck" Robbins, who took up the reins of office when George left school. George Dyer and Bill Greene were taken on that year. Don Carr, Joe Reed and Jack Winton completed the ensemble from 1921, by which substantial enrollment, the Mirror was able to improve its output vastly.

The Pot-Pourri came under the direction of Lou Hammond, Managing Editor, and Al Hunt, Business Manager. Jess Willard, June Burns, Cal Jones, Ted Sheaffer, and Bill Greene, as Associate Editor and Art Editor respectively, completed the number from our class.

Philo and Forum have pluckily persisted in this frivolous generation, attracting as much interest as they usually do — we regret to say.

And so, in retrospection of a fine year as regards our literary achievements, we can say that the class has applied itself to and succeeded in this field of rudimentary literarydom in the good old average way — and perhaps a little above the good old average.

Athletics

1920 - 1921

Athletics

LOOKING back over the varied course of our four years here on Andover Hill, and recalling to memory the many contests witnessed during that time, we must indeed consider ourselves fortunate as being among those who have seen the rolling tide of defeat turned away from us, and changed into victory's happy smile.

In the fall of 1917 we were forced to witness Captain George Braden's football team yield to Exeter in a 3-0 game. The team was continually up against handicaps this year, and Mr. Quinby, as coach, worked manfully to whip a team into shape, and defeat, when it came, spelled no disgrace. We had Bud Adams and George Temple on the team.

Swimming under Captain Neville played a big part in raising our drooping spirits. John Anderson equaled the P. A. plunge record during the season.

Wrestling under Captain Scott, and hockey under Captain Norm Dodd, passed very good seasons. We won from Exeter in hockey 3-2, a victory to be proud of.

We lost the relay meet to Exeter.

When spring came it brought with it renewed hope, and determination to better our athletic condition. But, with military training taking up every available minute of spare time, and with the war fever running high, we realized that Athletics after all were only secondary matters at such a time. So, when the baseball team under Captain Norm Dodd went down to a 10-1 defeat at the hands of Exeter, and the track team under Bill Stevenson experienced a 69¹/₂-26¹/₂ defeat by the same foe, we felt in no way disgraced by defeats acquired under such circumstances.

1918-19

We returned to school in the fall of 1918 under the same handicaps, in respect to Athletics, as we had left in the previous spring. In spite of this, however, football prospects were bright, and the preliminary season exceptionally rosy. But, alas! disappointment was again ours, and we lost to Exeter 27-7. We were represented by Neidlinger and Captain Adams.

Hockey under Captain Adams had a fair season prior to the game with Exeter. We tied Exeter in a hard game 1-1. 1921 had Captain Adams and Neidlinger on the team.

Swimming was very successful this year. The plunging of "Fat" Anderson was a feature, and Captain Marshall, swimming the 220 yard, broke the P. A. record in that event.

Relay team again lost to Exeter. 1921 had Dunc MacInnes on the team.

Basketball was revived as an active sport, after a lapse of several years, and the team under Captain Atterbury was exceptional.

Baseball under Cal Eddy, after passing a good preliminary season, tasted bitter defeat at the hands of Exeter 11-4.

We were indeed fortunate in track this year, inasmuch as we obtained Ray Shepard as coach for this declining sport. Under his guidance track took a big leap, and, although we lost to Exeter, future track prospects looked very bright.

(1919-20)

Fortune smiled from the very start, and, when Exeter went down to a 19-0 defeat in football, our joy knew no bounds. Thanks to Fred Daly and Captain Adams, the tide had turned. 1921 had Wingate, Koehler, Neidlinger, and Captain Adams on the team.

During the winter a new source of interest was opened to us. For the first time we contended with Exeter in swimming, and basketball. We won the swimming meet 32-20, which filled our cup of joy to the brim. We had Draper, Stilwell and "Abe" Clark on the team.

In basketball we again showed our superiority to Exeter, and forced those worthy opponents to a 31-27 defeat. 1921 had Captain Munger, Tillson, and McDonald on the team.

Defeats came in hockey, and relay, and so we settled down to do our best for the spring work.

The track season was very successful. Time and again we defeated opponents of no mean standing. We were first defeated at the Harvard Interscholastics by Exeter, and, when a week later that same foe won the annual dual meet 58¹/₂ 50¹/₂, our disappointment was indeed great. We were represented by Captain Hills, Gage, Wingate, Screven, Cox, Spock, and Richardson.

Baseball was but a bitter repetition of track. Exeter came down here with the odds against her, but by superb playing, turned the tables and beat us 8-5. We had Neidlinger and Weed on the team.

(1920-21)

From the very beginning football prospects were bright, in spite of defeats from Harvard and Yale freshmen, after hard fought games. Failures like those, however, could not daunt men like "Willie" Wingate or Fred Daly, and when we whipped Exeter 6-3 we were not surprised, but very, very happy. 1921 had Captain Wingate, Veghte, Tillson, Koehler, Reed, and Don Gray on the team.

The hockey team, after a fair preliminary season, defeated Exeter 4-0. We were represented by Captain Koehler, Lindley, and Robbins.

The swimming and basketball teams, on the same day, lost to Exeter; the former by the score 31-22, the latter 47-43. During the swimming season Stilwell broke the world's interscholastic record in the plunge.

Wrestling under "Cyclone" Burns and Captain Capra gained headway this year. We won from Worcester.

Now our thoughts are turned toward the spring games. The track and baseball teams are hard at work. We cannot say what the outcome will be, but one thing is certain, that if determination means success, then VICTORY is ours.

THE POWERS THAT BE

Zeus awoke one morning, and decided to have a meeting of the gods. Accordingly, he summoned his messenger, Lightfoot, and bid him, after he'd Eaton, to get in his chariot and summon the Boyce up. Lightfoot being pretty snotty, didn't take Zeus' advice, and instead of jumping in his highly scented chariot, sped off on his winged sandals. He had gone but a short way when the rain began to fall, Drip, Drip, and he suffered a wordy attack of Charley-horse. So he stopped at a Stone Tower in which dwelt Doc, a Freeman who could help him. Doc took down a book, turned over a Page or two, and announced that he had the dope down Pat. He bandaged Lightfoot until the poor Guy was covered with bandages an Inch thick. The two simple folk thought this so funny that they laughed until their Sides shook. Finally Doc said, "Change the bandage Daly, and paint it with iodine."

Then Lightfoot tried to continue, but fell into the sea. He scanned the sea for ships, but for some time found nothing but dactylic feet. Finally he discovered two ships with their Stearns foremost. These took him to Zeus' palace where the King of the Gods was shooting craps with his Pap. When he told them of his failure, they were sore, and he was Roth like both.

WE AWARD THE HAND-EMBROIDERED SNOW SHOVEL TO

1. The bird who borrows your soap Friday and doesn't return it till Monday.
2. The pest that borrows your only clean adjustable full-dress shirt front to go to the Rogers Hall dance and returns it embroidered with grape juice.
3. The nut who after flunking an exam, pipes up with, "Well, after all the best knowledge doesn't come from books."
4. The wise guy who, right in the most thrilling part of the twenty-fifth installment of the five year serial, Passionate Pearl, the Pride of the Oyster House, begins to tell you about the mean party he slung in Boston with Iona Furcote, who is taking the part of Pearl.
5. The goboony with a cold who gets in the shower at 8.07 p.m., and stays there till 11.15 so that he can be sure of sweating the disease out.
6. The dizzy dick who every time you come into the grill says: "Hey! lend us a butt" when he never had a thought about returning it.
7. The cheese who tells you there is a letter for you, and then after you run a quarter of a mile to your dorm you find it is one of those charming invitations sent out by the Librarian asking you to attend a house party in the library at 11.07 on the ensuing two Saturdays.

PHILLIPS ANDOVER

TO -

I've sworn that no lady could win me,
And I've vowed I would pass by them all,
But, boy! I've discovered a woman
Who made me — yes, forced me — to fall.
A queen, as a beautiful woman.
A rare but yet possible thing,
But mine is the rarest and fairest,
And she actually called me her "king."

Her face was the soft olive oval,
Her eyes were the bright twinkling blue,
Her lips were the rarest of rubies,
Her voice was a mild creamy coo.
She looked like an angel from heaven
Sent down for such fellows as I
In dancing, the grace of a Venus,
As light as the June butterfly.

I've danced with this goddess of beauty
Sent here by the powers above,
I was lost in the darkness of rapture,
But found in the sunlight of love.
A hand was in mine and I pressed it,
She squeezed back the well-known reply;
I whispered low, "You love me, my moon-girl?"
She answered, "For you, dear, I'd die."

I felt her warm breath as she nestled
Closer and closer to me.
I wanted to clasp her and tell her
No woman was sweeter than she.
So we hunted a seat in the corner,
(Twas hard for a fellow to start).
But finally I told her my story,
And asked her to give me her heart.

She played with my hand and squeezed it,
She snuggled up close to my side.
She puckered her lips and I kissed her,
And, oh boy, how sweetly she sighed!
Little I thought of expenses,
(She had cut my heart like a knife),
For why think about money
When at least you have tasted of life?

Sing a song of six bucks, a bottle full of rye;
Four and twenty night birds nearly lose an eye;
When the bottle's opened the birds begin to sing,
"We didn't have such rotten hooch when Barleycorn was King!"

The King was in the bathroom, brewing something funny;
The queen was in the kitchen, drinking gin and honey;
The maid was in the garden, gathering a souse;
And they all lived together in a prohibition house.

SHORT STORY CONTEST COMES TO A CLOSE

(Reported by Phillip de Space)

The Short Story Contest recently held under the auspices of the "Looking Glass" of which C. H. D. Sparrows is the editor, has come to a close. The committee of selection, consisting of the editor, has awarded the prize to C. H. D. Sparrows.

On being interviewed concerning this award the chairman said, with his characteristic modesty, "Sparrows' story, Peek-a-boo's Dilemma, is a masterpiece. It embodies the realism of a De Maupessant or a Rabelais, the preciseness of style that was Emerson's, and the fancy of a James Branch Cabell. Believe me, it is well worth reading."

When asked what he thought of the author's chances for distinguishing himself, along literary lines, in after life, Mr. Sparrows facetiously answered, "Yes, such are the vicissitudes of life."

With his kind permission, we herewith publish the little masterpiece, which, to quote Mr. Sparrows again, "will soon become the sixth foot in Dr. Eliot's five-foot shelf of great literary works."

PEEK-A-BOO'S DILEMMA

It was five o'clock and the setting sun made long shadows on the desert as it fell on the domes of the Shriek's Palace. From a nearby wood could be heard the high, melodious notes of a codfish.

If one were a close observer, one would have seen, stealing from the portals of her father's mansion, Helluva Shriek. She allured you — defied you — conquered you at a glance. She wore Bonnie B's just like Anita does in the Cosmopolitan and a chip on her shoulder. Helluva was devilish — O, but she was devilish! — You know, smoked Milos, wore them extremely high, and slapped it on extremely thick. But such is life among movie queens, and she sure was a queen of motion. This is in Peek-a-boo's own words. He met her at the gate. He clapped his hands and a flyver drawn by two camels and an Omar rattled up to the curb in a cloud of smoke.

PHILLIPS ANDOVER

But a word concerning our hero. Peek-a-boo's parents were poor but honest, and too proud to work. His father owned a steamship line and lived from hand to pocketbook, scarcely knowing where his next yacht was coming from. Consequently, young Peek-a-boo was obliged to go to work at a very early age, accepting the vice-presidency of a London banking house and slowly working his way to the top. Next he sailed for America and on the eve of his fourth birthday he landed in New York. Having overheard someone say, "Westward Ho!" he started for Newark. He went into politics soon after arriving in the gay metropolis of the Golden West, and for many years served faithfully as Judge Advocate dog catcher of the state of New Jersey. When his term came to an end he set out for his native country, Abyssinia. There he became renowned among his fellows as a man of great daring, for he it was who first proclaimed the now famous axiom: A dog's nose and a woman's knee are always cold.

Softly he chanted in her ear, "I am a king of Babylon and you are a Christian slave" and then her damp lips, which were like a poppy, were softly crushed beneath the thirst of his. Then placing her on the forward hump of a camel and himself on the nether one, they disappeared into the gloomy depths of the desert.

No sooner were they well under way than the Shriek, Lord Howe Dumme, noticing his beautiful daughter's absence, called out his guard and on the back of his pet hippo, gave chase. But all to no avail. Peek-a-boo and his prospective bride had vanished.

After two weeks their water gave out — thirst stole slowly upon them. It was frightful. Peek-a-boo's mouth felt like the skin of a peach. A day they continued without a drink (they as yet hadn't become the hardened specimen as a citizen of the United States is of today). At last they laid down to die. Peek-a-boo had always found it easier to die lying than sitting.

Suddenly a thought struck our hero. It bowled him over. They would not die — they could not die. From the inner recesses of his robes he drew forth his trusty Ingersoll. Ah! He would fool them. With a deft movement Peek-a-boo removed the back of this instrument and there — there was a spring!

DEVINE: "Shay, is that a Rolls-Roysh over there?"

JENNINGS: "Nope, thash a groshery wagon."

DEVINE: "Then you're not looking in the same plashe."

JENNINGS: "Hic — neither are you."

RUSSELL: "Why do they call women's stockings 'hose'?"

RICHARDSON: "Because whenever you think of hose you think of rubber."

WE NOMINATE FOR THE HALL OF SHAME

JESS WILLARD

Because his personal history has appeared in the Boston Sunday Advertiser; because he is considered the best-dressed man in Andover; because he has been mentioned more than once in the Nantucket semi annual gas, but principally because he is the inventor of the pinch-back dress suit.

ABE CLARK

Because he is the leading exponent of aesthetic dancing at Phillips Academy; because he is the only man who has successfully hidden the name of his beloved; because of his great novel, An Hour and a Half, or The Evolution of a Kimono; and because he is one of the old familiar faces reading from right to left in the Police Gazette.

DON RUSSELL

Because in his youth he was one of those high school goat-getters with long, furry ears, that play passionate, soul-stirring passages on the klaxon, as they pilot their fatherfather's imported van among the sweet listless faces on Fifth Avenue, looking brightly about, all the while, for signs of admiration; because he, in his endeavor to become an Arrow-collar man, has suffered the greatest torture without a whimper—he has purchased every style of collar, some so loose that he had to make a tripod out of his nose and ears to keep from falling through, and some so tight they have squeezed cider out of his Adam's apple, and because he knows the date of birth, age, color of eyes, favorite fruit and number of divorces of every movie star.

JOE REED

Because nuxated iron made him strong and well, because he fits in beautifully at a tea whether he be pouring or not; because when he loses control of himself in front of women and says, "Oh, sarsaparilla!" he can add, "Excuse me, I couldn't help myself," and get away with it, but mainly because of his air of blasé, lingerie and nom de plume

LOU HAMMOND

Because he has survived four years at Andover, because he is collegiate from his high three cornered lid to the brogues adorned with the map of Europe embroidered on the tips, because of his gracefulness on the ballroom floor as the exponent of the Virginia Reel; but in the main because he has survived four years at Andover.

"I like to spend time in reflection," said Carpenter as he gazed into the mirror.

THE PATHS OF GLORY LEAD BUT TO THE GRAVE

A tragedy of high life in two shakes of a lamb's tail

By Boku Sheckle

ACT I

Mt. Olympus

A great celebration is going on. Zeus is laying doggo on the family soixante-quinze, his wing tips on a Smythe Greek to English and return, while he watches with exultant eyes, one of Captain X's ichas go up in smoke. Around the room are various handsome antique chairs of the period of Morris the seventeenth, in which are seated numerous court hangers-on. Behind the decorations of poison ivy and thistles that line the hall, a young Greek youth is singing to the accompaniment of a vietrolo which he is softly strumming.

ZEUS: "Yea, my daughter, Hebe, hath been elected — elected captain of the Angelic Aqua Splashers. Exultation is in my soul. At this very moment she is winning glory for me and for herself. Was it not less than ten minutes ago that she tore herself from my fondling grasp to go and compete in a track meet on Elysian Field? Truly, I will give her the power to win her event — the pole vault."

Tumult without and Hebe is borne before Zeus on the shields of some heavenly gladiators. Her leg is in a sling. She is attired in a wrist watch, a pair of goloshes and a safety razor. (She is a lovely girl, though half-witted).

COURTIERS: "Make way — Hebe is returning to her father's house" (Long drawn out wail.)

ZEUS: "Bear a hand, thou sluggards. Ten thousand curses of Beelzebub be on thy heads, varlets; wotinell's the matter?" (With this he sees Hebe and a deathly pallor overspreads his face.)

ZEUS (with a struggle): "How are you, fair Hebe?"

HEBE (irritated because she doesn't understand Zeus's noble struggle with his emotions): "How's yourself? You started it." (And then with a flash of her old time wit) "Does it look as if I hath dandruff in my hair?"

ZEUS: "Ah, dearest Hebe, I am sore wroth, for I fear thou art seriously wounded."

HEBE: "Nay, sire, I'm dead."

(And with this the gladiators exit with their burden. Zeus tragically removes the Bathhat, a dainty whimsy of beaver board and silkalene, a sign of his royalty, especially designed for wear with his formal lounge costume by Maison Diana, Paris, Shanghai and Hoboken.)

ZEUS: "An asp, an asp, my kingdom for an asp. I shalt never be able to bear this grief."

(Suddenly from behind a dense screen of hop vines and mosquito netting steps a strange figure, fingers to lip, ears drooping and feet at several obtuse angles.)

STRANGER: "Here is a basket of fruit which contains what thou doest so desire."

(Zeus seizes the basket and draws from among the carrots and celery, two asps. These he applies to his legs. He does not rub these counter-irritants for he does not want them to blister.)

ZEUS: "The die is cast. Beyond the grave lies union and lies, and lies, and lies."

(After this he swoons and no longer can be heard the throbbing of his heart. He has gone West to join Hebe and live with her happily ever afterwards in the Happy Hunting grounds of Canada. A domestic blows out the gas, winds the cat, puts out the clock and hastily slips a top coat over his goloshes.)

OMNES: "Ah."

(Exeunt Omnes. (Curtain.)

The following sermon was delivered by the Reverend Neil Stilwell at the Park House Temple last Saturday night. He took his text from the fourteenth chapter of Isaiah, the second verse. This sermon verbatim is as follows:

"There is crying for wine in the streets, all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone."

"'Ain't it the truth?'"

Amen

"Ah!" cried Ferris, as he picked up an egg from the piano stool, "the lay of the last minstrel."

"Take back the heart that thou gavest me!" growled the indignant Park House poker player, who was drawing to a spade flush.

JUNE: "Where do you bathe around here?"

JESS: "In the spring."

JUNE: "I don't want to know when, I asked you where."

SHE: "Wouldn't it be better if we didn't go out for supper? I think it is going to rain."

HUDNER: "Yes, I think so, too. I can tell by the change in my pocket."

PHILLIPS ANDOVER

The following notice will not be read in chapel: "As the present scholastic year will expire in one month, all students are requested to make use of their remaining cuts.

"As far as I can see everything is in good shape," said the night watchman as he looked above at the lighted windows of Abbot Academy.

"What a helluva note," said Fatty, as the organ went dead for the sixth time.

POP PHILLIPS' MUSINGS OF A MISANTHROPE

1. A stitch in time saves two in the bush.
2. A bird in the hand gathers no moss.
3. If at first you don't succeed, double it and match him again.
4. Because a tariturn man has a shovel in his hand it is not a sign he is a grave digger.
5. It's a still day that has no wind. N'it's a dead one too, for the gang in Burns.
6. Charley Robbins knows you don't have to be a contortionist to pat yourself on the back.
7. Lou Hammond knows the female of the species is more deadly on the kale.
8. "Lot's wife sure did die hard," said Fat Jones the other day in Stacky's Bible class.
9. It was only the other day somebody remarked that Bill Green would surely be a success in after life — yes, working as a dummy in a clothing store.

"This is a terrible shock," sighed Johnny Shoestring as he gazed at Burton's hair.

FAMOUS LINES HEARD IN, AT, OR AROUND ANDOVER

FISHING LINE: "I really don't see how you manage to dance with me when I don't even know what I'm doing myself. It's wonderful! I wish you'd teach me really how to dance."

TELEPHONE LINE: "Lord, but I felt rotten last night, so I felt that I really must phone you and let your voice cheer me up."

BREAD LINE: "I can't tell you how much I've enjoyed having dinner with you (very ambiguous) It sure does a fellow good to have a little home cooking once in a while."

STAG LINE: "Oh! I'd rather stag any day in the week. You can pick out just the girls you want to dance with, and you don't have to be bothered with a girl to entertain Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday."

MORE LINE: "I was just sitting in my room with my French book open before me and I had just looked at the lesson and then, all of a sudden my head felt dizzy, so you see I couldn't get my lesson out for to-day."

LINE: But the thing I like best about you, little girl, is that you aren't scatter-brained and flyaway like most girls who come up here. You really have brains (thank you kindly, sir) and you understand a fellow so well. A man can really talk to you."

BOYCE: "Who's there?"

BURGLAR: "Lie still and keep quiet. I'm looking for money."

BOYCE: "Wait, and I'll get up and look with you."

HUNT (waking Burns, his roommate): "It's ten to eight."

BURNS (sleepily): "Wait till the odds get better. Then place it all."

They shook as they rushed forward, almost trembling to the floor. Rushed back, now to the right, now to the left. Each held forth a hand to ward off the others. He rushed her to what seemed to be a place of safety, but alas, others were there too soon. They rushed down upon him, and he carried her once more to safety. He felt some one strike him from behind, turned to meet his antagonist, but he was gone. She looked up into his eyes beseechingly:

"Hold me closer, Harold."

With a determined look on his face he nodded:

"O. K. Sweetie. It's dam' good music, ain't it?"

LEE Puncture Proof Tires

LEE tires
smile
at miles

THOSE little, case-hardened steel discs that make Lee tires puncture-proof, are individually embedded in pure rubber.

Three layers of them, separated by heavy, rubberized fabric are built into every Lee Puncture-proof tire, whether "Cord" or "Fabric", protecting the carcass, as well as the tube, against perforation.

Here, then, to the limit of mileage is added the limit of protection. The peer of every tire in the one, the superior of all in the other.

Any Lee dealer and there are Lee representatives everywhere—will fit your car with the Lee tires best calculated to give you greatest satisfaction.

Look for the "Lee" name in your telephone book

Tutoring for Admission to College

Little Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

THE SCHOOL THAT GIVES RESULTS, NOT EXPLANATIONS

It is the oldest (established 1887), largest (upwards of 675 pupils in 1920), best equipped (large brick dormitories, well-arranged class-rooms and laboratories, ten thousand volume library with reading-room with 125 periodicals) tutoring school. It gives a stimulating environment with ample opportunities for exercise, large boat house, fifty tennis courts, gymnasium and athletic field. It has had the most continuous management, being under the same head since its foundation and has the most experienced and forceful staff of teachers of any preparatory school. Its admission candidates are taught by men whose average teaching experience is twenty five years, who are teaching the sons of former pupils and who include more Harvard honor graduates with higher degrees than the instruction staff of any preparatory school in the country. Its methods are individual, its classes small, its success marked and its prices moderate and based on the amount of work done. Summer work can begin at any time the candidate desires. It prepares more men for Harvard, the college with the highest standard of admission, than all other tutoring schools combined. For particulars concerning this school of maximum efficiency, deserved reputation, best traditions, the school with a past and a future, and the names of men in your vicinity who are former pupils, address
